Cheyenne Police Focus on Red Light Enforcement

CHEYENNE, Wyo.— The Cheyenne Police Department has been focusing on red light enforcement over the past two months on four high-crash intersections in the city.

The intersections of Yellowstone Road and Carlson Street; Yellowstone Road and Dell Range; Dell Range and Converse Avenue; and Dell Range and Ridge Road have seen an increase in enforcement by the Cheyenne Police Department Traffic Unit.

These intersections were chosen for high visibility traffic enforcement based on the number and severity of crashes that occurred at each location.

The focus on red light enforcement at city intersections will continue through the rest of this year in attempt to reduce the number of traffic crashes.

Through a continuing effort to decrease vehicle crashes caused by red light violations the Cheyenne Police Department has worked with the city court to increase the bond for red light violations to 175 dollars.
