CPD Sergeant Attends FBI National Academy

CHEYENNE, Wyo.— A sergeant with the Cheyenne Police Department attended the FBI National Academy Program at Quantico, Va., this past summer.

Cheyenne Police Sgt. John Phillips was selected among hundreds of other applicants nationwide to attend the 10-week National Academy Program.

The program instructs law enforcement professionals on advanced communication, leadership and fitness training. Additionally, it serves to improve the administration of justice in police departments and agencies at home and abroad, and to raise law enforcement standards, knowledge and cooperation worldwide.

Participation is by invitation only, through a nomination process, and less than one tenth of one percent of law enforcement executives in the world are selected to attend this esteemed program.

The training for the program is paid for by the FBI and provided by the FBI Academy instructional staff, special agents, and other staff members holding advanced degrees, many of whom are recognized internationally in their fields of expertise.

The academy consisted of 230 law enforcement men and women from 47 states, the District of Columbia, 24 countries, as well as military and civilian organizations.
